BODY OF QUEEN MARY COMMITTED TO AGES IN TOMB OF BRITISH ROYALTY

SIMPLE RITES OF EPISCOPAL CHURCH USED

Windsor, England (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II cast symbolic earth upon the coffin of her grandmother Queen Mary today, and saw the body committed to the ages in the ancient tomb of British royalty.

The 85-year-old dowager queen was buried beneath St. George's Chapel of Windsor castle, beside the King-husband and she survived by 17 years. The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, spoke the commitment rites of the 40-minute burial of Queen Mary.

The royalty of 13 nations and that prince of commoners, Prime Minister Winston Churchill, watched as the signing Queen, almost 60 years junior to the dead queen grandmother, paid her homage by sprinkling the earth upon the coffin—just as he had done 13 months ago or her father, George VI.

A moment later the eldest son, the Duke of Windsor—he who caused Mary so much joy and so much heartbreak—came forward.

Throughout the service, the Duke of Windsor stood at the foot of his mother's coffin while the catafalque rested in the choir of the chapel. Beside him were the other royal dukes—Edinburgh, Gloucester and Kent.

Queen Elizabeth II, slender, all black and heavily veiled, stood beside the coffin, in a place ordinarily reserved for a knight of the garter. At a nod from the Archbishop, she stepped forward as the coffin was slowly lowered.

From an attendant holding a liver bowl, she took a bit of earth from the garden of Frogmore house, where Queen Mary spent some of the happiest years of her life.

Three times she reached out to sprinkle some of it on the coffin as the Archbishop committed Queen Mary's body to the ground—"earth to earth, ashes to ashes and dust to dust."

Then the Queen returned to her place beside Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret and Mary, as princess royal—Queen Mary's daughter.

After the British royal family adored its obsequies, visiting royalty came up slowly in a long line. The men bowed in courtesy and the women curtsied at the spot where the coffin was lowered to the vaults below.

Then came other distinguished persons to say farewell to the queen. Heading the line was Churchill, followed by members of the government and dozens of diplomats.

FIRE KILLS 33 PERSONS—Flames roar over the wreckage of the Littlefield Nursing Home at Largo, Fla., after razing the frame building and killing 33 persons. Most of those killed were trapped in their beds, the metal frames of which are visible in the photo. Twenty-five others ran or were helped to safety in a nearby orange grove.

First 15 of an Avalanche of Bills to Implement Economy Proposals in Senate for Vote

Gen. Van Fleet To Reach Official End Of Army Life Today

Washington (AP)—The crash of a 17-gun salute at dusk today signals the end of the 38-year military career of Gen. James A. Van Fleet—one of the nation's most successful and most controversial combat soldiers.

The 61-year-old warrior steps into retirement less than 24 hours before a Senate armed services subcommittee is due to open an inquiry into his disputed claims that a serious and sometimes critical shortage of ammunition existed during all the 22 months he commanded the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea.

Army chiefs have denied that shortages hampered the Army in its mission.

Several senators had appealed to Secretary of the Army Stevens to keep Van Fleet in uniform although his retirement normally would be compulsory because of his 60 years of age, 35 years of Army service, and five years in the grade of major general.

But Stevens held that Van Fleet would not be ruled an exception to the policy which went into effect while President Eisenhower was Army chief of staff.

OFFICIALS CLEARED OF MURDER CHARGES

Connellsville (AP)—Constable Wayne Watson Jr. and Deputy Constable Edwin Lynch have been cleared of murder charges in the fatal beating last Jan. 1 of Denver Criner.

An alderman dismissed charges yesterday which were filed by the victim's wife, Icie. A coroner's jury had exonerated Watson and Lynch after they testified Criner resisted arrest on assault and battery charges brought by his wife.

'Bid Service Clinic' To Be Held Here For Convenience of Local Manufacturers

The Pittsburgh Ordnance District will bring their "Travel Bureau Clinic" to Warren.

This clinic will be held in the Warren Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Warren Bank & Trust Co. building tomorrow from 9:00 a. m. to 1:00 p. m.

Two representatives from the Pittsburgh district office will be present and they will have actual Army procurement, blueprints and bid forms, with complete information for local manufacturers who are interested in landing government contracts.

Policies and procedures for the filling of federal contracts will be explained. The "Clinic" is being held especially for the benefit of the smaller manufacturers in this area.

Under this plan, the Ordnance district hopes to attract the interest of such local concerns as small machine shops, foundries, electrical firms and manufacturers of diversified equipment.

Interested firms may have their representatives visit the Chamber offices any time tomorrow between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 1:00 p. m. to confer with the men from the Pittsburgh Ordnance office, and it is hoped that many will take advantage of this unusual opportunity to get first hand information and actual data on government procurement contracts now being released.

MOVES LEAD TO CAUTIOUS HOPES IN U. N.

BULLETIN

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—Red China's offer to settle the Korean prisoner of war issue was delivered formally today to U. N. General Assembly President Lester B. Pearson.

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—A cautious but urgent hope that Communist China's latest moves would lead to peace in Korea today overshadowed the many hot issues facing the United Nations. But no new action here on the Korean question appeared imminent at this time.

Canada's Chief Delegate Paul Martin said the call by Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai for settlement of the prisoner of war issue holding up a Korean armistice was "an important one."

Chou's offer, broadcast from Peiping yesterday, called for returning home, after a Korean cease-fire, those prisoners who "insisted" repatriation and turning the rest over to an unnamed neutral country till their fate was settled.

To many here, pouring over the text of the Peiping broadcast, the offer at first glance appeared to accept the principles of the Indian resolution adopted by the Assembly last December—and quickly rejected by the Reds after it got a tongue-lashing here by Russia's Andrei A. Vishinskiy.

The U. S. and British delegations left comments to their respective governments in Washington and London.

Indian spokesmen pointed out that they had introduced the resolution last fall only after they had reason to believe—through their ambassador in Peiping—that the Chinese Reds were ready to accept its compromise principles.

STEEL PLANTS ARE IDLED BY RAIL STRIKE

Pittsburgh (AP)—An unauthorized railroad strike forced U. S. Steel Corp. to close its four big steel plants in the Pittsburgh area today.

More than 30,000 production workers will be idled by the time the last iron and steel making furnace is cooled and sealed late this afternoon.

About 4,500 employees of the subsidiary Union Railroad Co. struck, bringing furlough orders to all Big Steel workers in plants served by the railroad.

An official of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said the walkout, called over the suspension of two conductors, was unauthorized. There have been no disclosed plans for a conference between railroad and strikers aimed at ending the strike.

Officials of the Railway Mediation Board said in Washington they had instructed Warren Lane, a board mediator, to go to the scene to do everything possible to end the walkout.

Judge to Rule Next Week on Number of Wet-Dry Petitions

Judge Allison D. Wade will deliver an opinion early next week as to whether or not wet-dry referendums will be allowed on the May 19 primary ballot in Eldred and Corydon townships in Warren county. He also has under consideration proposed referendums in Forest county.

Yesterday afternoon, proponents of both wet and dry factions presented evidence in county court on petitions filed with the county commissioners which are alleged to be faulty.

In Eldred township, which is now dry, wetts filed a petition which is being contested by a dry faction. In Corydon township, now wet, the drys have filed a petition also being contested.

In each township, the drys are represented by Attorney E. H. Beahm, and the wets by Attorney Samuel Bonavita. The principal argument centers around names on the petitions, it was stated.

Attorneys will file briefs by Wednesday morning, after which time Judge Wade is allowed five days in which to render a decision on allowing or disallowing the vote.

In Forest county, Tionesta, which is presently dry, will vote on the question of operation of a beer distributor. Votes on the wet-dry question will be conducted in Green, Harmony, Hickory and Kingsley townships.

Army Fugitive Is Shot To Death at Vandergrift

Vandergrift (AP)—An armed fugitive from the Army disciplinary barracks at New Cumberland, Pa., was shot to death last night by a policeman in North Vandergrift.

Police Chief Michael J. Callizzi identified the man as Thomas N. Couslin, 24, of North Vandergrift. He said Couslin escaped from the barracks last Jan. 19.

Military and district police had been pressing a search for Couslin since he deserted Sunday night and fled in an auto with his guns.

Chief Callizzi said Couslin was killed by Officer James A. Williams, 51, in self-defense after the fugitive pulled a gun on him.

ICC PLANS HEARING IN THREE-TRAIN WRECK

Erie (AP)—A public hearing on the three-train wreck near Conneaut, O., will be held here tomorrow by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The New York Central Railroad crash Friday killed 21 persons and injured about 150. Last of the victims was identified last night as Shirley Jaeger of Chicago.

Rep. Taber Raises His Budget-Cutting Hopes

Washington (AP)—Rep. Taber (R-N. Y.) raised his budget-cutting hopes today and said Eisenhower administration agency heads were being a little modest in their own estimates of what they can save.

Taber, chairman of the key House Appropriations Committee, set a new budget reduction goal of 12½ billion dollars, a boost of 2½ billions over his original target.

Some administration officials, leading off with President Eisenhower, have been speaking of the budget-cutting problem as an extremely tough one.

WINS SCHOLASTIC HONOR AT SCHOOL

Word is received from Lancaster today that James M. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, 33 Buchanan street, is one of 22 Franklin and Marshall seniors elected this week to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, top scholastic honorary. Graduate of Warren High School with the Class of 1949, Jim has rated high on the Dean's List since going to Lancaster and has been an active figure in campus affairs. Formal initiation of the group will take place May 17.

Woman Says She Aided FBI Spy on Communists

Pittsburgh (AP)—The wife of an FBI undercover man testified in U. S. District Court that she worked with her husband in collecting information about Pittsburgh district Communists.

Mrs. Joseph Mazzei, 35, of suburban Beechview said yesterday she joined the Communist Party in 1944 at the same time as her husband and made periodic reports to the FBI.

She testified at the trial of five Communists accused of conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government. They are Steve Nelson, James Dolsen, Benjamin Careathers, William Albertson and Irving Weissman.

CHAIRMAN TAYLOR HAS HARMONY DINNER

Harrisburg (AP)—Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, was host to a group of GOP leaders last night at a harmony dinner.

Guests at the dinner included Gov. John S. Fine, U. S. Sen. Edward Martin and James H. Duff and G. Mason Owlett, Republican national committeeman and top leader of the Grundy forces in the party.

The dinner was limited to guests but some of those attending said Taylor got in a few remarks regarding his boom for Duff to run again for governor next year.

HOME CHARGES AIRED

Greensburg (AP)—Charges of mismanagement at the Westmoreland County Home hung fire today after a 2½-hour meeting of county commissioners at the institution. About 150 persons attended the session yesterday, which was marked chiefly by arguments between opponents and supporters of Supt. William Hendricks. The meeting broke up with no indication what action, if any, will be taken.

Lawmakers Arranging to Test Grass-Roots Reaction to Plan For Cutting State's Budget

BULLETIN

Harrisburg (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today called a meeting for next Monday on proposals to impose a two per cent sales tax in Pennsylvania. Chairman Wrayburn B. Hall (R-Potter) said a sales tax will "definitely" be considered. You can see yourself that a sales tax is the only type of broad-based tax in committee," he told a newsmen. "There haven't been any income tax bills introduced."

LATEST BLAST IS NOT FELT AT LAS VEGAS

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—An atomic explosion, relatively weak as judged by veteran observers here but packing a strong wallop at the Atomic Energy Commission's proving ground 75 miles northwest, flared over the Nevada desert at 5 a. m. today.

The flash was less brilliant than either of the two preceding shots of the spring test series. The usual fast-rising white cloud from the blast, almost always seen here, was not visible. And no shock wave was felt here, also unusual.

But the AEC reported the device, touched off from a 300-foot tower gave observers at the Yucca Flat test site the most severe jolting they've had this year.

Two strong shocks were felt, and there were continuing reverberations after the blast, the AEC said.

The AEC did not describe the device detonated today and gave no explanation for the effects noted in the control tower and the lack of effects noted here.

There were no troops in foxholes on the proving ground this time.

Thirty aircraft circled the test site during the blast, but the AEC said the planes were the usual craft assigned for such shots and there were no Air Force indoctrination planes, as at first believed.

Allied Lines Are Probed by Handful Of Commie Patrols

Seoul (AP)—A mere handful of Communist patrols probed Allied lines along the 155-mile Korean battlefield today in the wake of bloody fighting on the western end of the line.

The day's biggest explosion was provided by a 15-car Communist ammunition train caught in the open by an American bomber.

Stormy skies curtailed aerial warfare, but some warplanes roared out at dawn to pound Red communications and frontline positions.

The Eighth Army reported light probing attacks in the Punch Bowl area on the Eastern Front and in the White Horse Mountain sector of Central Korea. All were turned back easily, the Army said.

No activity was reported on the Western Front where Marines on bloody Vegas Hill broke up two Chinese stabbing attacks Monday.

A B26 Invader spotted the Red train far up the Korean East Coast and Capt. Robert O. Self of Orlando, Fla., the observer, said two bombs landed right on the target.

Italy's Community Party Loses Its Protest Strike

Rome (AP)—Italy's big tough Communist party lost its strike protest against the government's election law but appeared certain today to have won a delay in Italian ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty.

The worst Red riots in five years flared over the entire Italian Peninsula yesterday, hand in hand with a Communist-called general strike. The strike apparently was a failure, with most workmen staying on the job. But the riots virtually ended hopes that the high-priority treaty might be ratified before the Italian general election, expected in June.

Harrisburg (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today called a meeting for next Monday on proposals to impose a two per cent sales tax in Pennsylvania. Chairman Wrayburn B. Hall (R-Potter) said a sales tax will "definitely" be considered. You can see yourself that a sales tax is the only type of broad-based tax in committee," he told a newsmen. "There haven't been any income tax bills introduced."

Harrisburg (AP)—Pennsylvania's lawmakers set out today to test grass-roots reaction to a proposal to cut the commonwealth's budget by $137,700,000 by shifting the tax burden to the local level.

Some of them, however, weren't too optimistic that the Republican-sponsored plan—offered in the hopes of avoiding new taxes—would get anything but a frigid reception at home.

The program would transfer more than $100,000,000 in education costs to school districts. Speaker Charles C. Smith (R-Philadelphia) said one phase alone would require school districts to increase real estate taxes by six mills to make up for a cut in state aid.

The new cost-trimming effort got underway as Gov. John S. Fine's Tax Study Committee offered a dozen suggestions for new taxes yesterday to solve the state's financial dilemma. The committee did not back any specific levy.

The committee's suggestions for new revenue embraced the once-defeated income tax and the oft-proposed general sales tax. Fine himself has conceded that neither could be passed by the 1953 session.

Other sources of revenue the Tax Study Committee listed were taxes on pari-mutual betting, soft drinks, amusements, tobacco, restaurant meals, hotel room rentals, head tax on adults, gas, electric, telephone and telegraph bills and unincorporated businesses and professions.

In aggregate, such levies could bring in $630,000,000 a biennium.

The first bill to pass the 1953 session won final approval in the House last night. The measure was a Senate-approved bill to codify and bring up to date Pennsylvania's law on commercial transactions.

In the Senate, confirmation was given to the appointments of Samuel S. Lewis, forests and waters secretary, and E. L. Schmidt, highways secretary.

Both Senate and House Republican caucuses discussed at length the budget-cutting plan but failed to agree on details of the plan.

REORGANIZATION PLAN WINS EASY APPROVAL

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower's first reorganization plan—to transform the Federal Security Agency (FSA) into a Cabinet Department of Health, Education and Welfare—has won easy congressional approval.

The new department, which will be the 10th of Cabinet rank, will become a reality 10 days after the President signs the resolution of approval on which the Senate voted yesterday.

World's First Known Version of Atomic Power Plant in Submarine Is Operating

Washington (AP)—The world's first known version of an atomic power plant to propel a submarine has been placed in operation, the Atomic Energy Commission announced today.

The device—a working model of one that eventually will power the Navy's atomic sub, the USS Nautilus—was set in operation on dry land at the AEC's testing station in Arco, Idaho.

The AEC said the "prototype" power plant—that is, the land-based version of a sea-going type—has "successfully entered its first phase of operation" and will eventually be brought to "full power."

This was the first word that atomic scientists had actually achieved power in a reactor of the type that is expected to allow a submarine to travel many thousands of miles without refueling and to stay submerged for great lengths of time.

The commission said the atomic power plant had entered a phase known as "criticality"—that is, the atomic fuel used in it has been brought to a point where it is sustaining a chain reaction and yielding atomic energy that can be harnessed for propulsion of a submarine.

TWO VACANCIES

The sudden death of Milton L. Witz Monday morning at his home, 107 Sixth avenue, makes a second vacancy on the board of trustees of Oakland cemetery. The first was created when the late Henry Sandblade passed away while on a business trip in the west some weeks ago. The vacancies will be filled at the annual election to be held next Tuesday evening in connection with the regular meeting of Warren Lodge No. 339, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, under which organization the cemetery is administered through the selection of trustees.

The diesel track, which will connect with the main tracks both east and west, will be independent of any other tracks in the yard and will allow oiling and servicing of diesel power without interruption. Oil tanks of 30,000 gallons capacity are also being installed here together with a smaller auxiliary tank.

INDUSTRIAL INJURIES

Figures from the Department of Labor and Industry indicate a drop of 9.3% in industrial fatalities during February, but non-fatal injuries showed a 2.2% increase. The bulletin states that the same three unsafe acts continue to cause the major part of the accidents month after month. These are using defective or unsafe tools or equipment; unnecessary exposure to danger; and overloading, crowding, and poor arrangement. Parts of the body most injured were face, eyes, neck, feet, ankles and toes, accounting for more than 60% of the accidents. Over half of the sprain type injuries were of the back and spine.

Special Permits Supplied Motorists Who Failed to Receive Registration Plate

Many local motorists who have not received a 1953 registration plate will begin using a permit at midnight tonight as authority to operate their cars, and while none of these cards have been received by applicants who asked the Warren County Motor club office to secure their tags, the club office said today that one motorist had shown the staff the card he received. These cards started coming into Warren late last week through the local postoffice, and many have arrived.

In the meantime, there are many uncalled-for tags at the AAA office, with another batch arriving today. Mary Corah, office secretary, announced yesterday that the office will be open from 7 until 9 tonight for the convenience of motorists whose tags have arrived and who must attach them to their cars by midnight.

The card in lieu of a plate is wallet-size, clipped to the printer's copy of the registration application, and was authorized by the State Revenue Department when it found it would not be able to deliver new plates to all passenger car owners on time.

In Harrisburg a department spokesman explained that the recent prison riot at the Western State Penitentiary, Pittsburgh, where the plates are manufactured, caused a shortage of new plates. The department expects to have the 1953 plates in the hands of all owners by April 10.

The special operating authority permit states that the fee has been paid. It has stamped on it the number of the plate the applicant will be issued.

It also states: "This is your authority to operate with your 1952 plate until the 1953 plate is received. These cards should be destroyed when plate is received."

The card is signed by Otto F. Messner, secretary of revenue.

State Reapportionment to Come Before G. O. P. Majority Committee Next Week

Harrisburg (AP)—The tangled problem of reapportioning Pennsylvania's legislative districts will be aired before the 32-member Republican majority in the Senate at a meeting next Tuesday night.

"We'll go over the whole situation, discussing all plans offered," said Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, GOP floor leader.

Meanwhile, Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong), chairman of the Senate Reapportionment Committee, said he will confer with Gov. John S. Fine on redistricting problems if it can be arranged.

One of the knottiest issues before the 1953 General Assembly, legislative reapportionment last was accomplished in the Keystone State in 1921. The State Constitution calls for it to be done every 10 years.

Present representation in the Assembly has been strongly criticized by Democrats who claim their minority vote in the Senate, for instance, actually represents a majority of the state's voters population-wise.

A shifting population in the past 32 years has greatly distorted the representation picture in many areas. One sore spot in particular is Northeast Philadelphia where some 200,000 persons have moved from other locations in recent years.

Up for discussion at next Tuesday's meeting will be one tentative plan presented by Sen. Pechan which increase the House of Representatives from 268 to 270 members. It would keep the Senate at 50 but would add one senator to each of Allegheny, Delaware and Montgomery counties.

Numerous consolidations of other senatorial districts would make the additions to these three counties possible.

Red Cross Chapter Issues an Appeal For Blood Donors

The committee in charge of Bloodmobile visitations for the Warren County Chapter of the American Red Cross today issued an urgent appeal for 40 or 50 "drop-ins" Wednesday when the Buffalo unit will be at the Lexington avenue plant of Sylvania Electric, Inc. These volunteers are urged to present themselves between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30.

The committee reports that about 170 Sylvania workers have signed up to give blood during the day. However if the quota of 155 pints is to be met there should be at least 225 persons pledged to donate. All employees of east side plants are particularly welcome to "drop in" during those hours, as

What's the sensible way to buy stocks?

"Why did you decide to buy the stock you own?" Some 15,000 people were interviewed and asked that question.

The biggest single reason given was that they hoped and expected the price would go up. Dividend income was the second most frequent reason.

Those are good reasons, of course. The long-range trend of security prices, for instance, has been upward for decades. And there are hundreds of companies which have paid dividends annually for ten years to more than a century.

But it's also true that share prices of even the strongest companies move down as well as up, that corporations may earn good profits one year and in another may not. So prudent investors consider the risks of share ownership...as well as the rewards.

That's why you'll naturally want all the help and advice you can get when you make your investment decision. Just like a new car or a washing machine, stocks should be bought carefully—after getting the facts.

We can say this. Any member firm of the New York Stock Exchange will enjoy answering your questions, whether you're prepared to buy or sell or just want information. And they'll be equally helpful whether you write, telephone or call in person.

QUEEN MARY'S SPIRIT WILL REIGN ON

Queen Mary was the perfection of regal grace and dignity, the symbol of moral rightness. She stood supremely for the triumph of duty and service above all else. And she was the last bearer of a great imperial tradition whose foundations began to crumble long before her life ebbed away.

Her 85 years encompassed all or part of the reigns of six sovereigns, beginning with Queen Victoria. She was wife to King George V, mother of Edward VIII and George VI, grandmother to the reigning Queen Elizabeth II.

This lifetime, reminds Bruce Blossat, in an editorial written for NEA Service and the Times-Mirror, spanned much of Britain's modern history, including two wars, the great depression, and the troubled, austere postwar era. For her, the keystone in this long arch probably was the Silver Jubilee celebration of her husband's 25th year on the throne, in 1935.

In World War I she bore conscientiously the heavy burdens laid inevitably upon the royal family. Again in World War II, she took a major part in royal activities supporting the British war effort. She was always a familiar figure at fairs, bazaars and shops, doing her steady bit to stimulate her country's trade.

Inescapably, tragedy struck her many times. Her son, Prince John, died at the age of 13. After George V died in January, 1936, her eldest son, the Prince of Wales, became Edward VIII. But that December, before he could be crowned, Edward abdicated to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson, an American divorcee. This was perhaps her greatest heartbreak.

In World War II another son, the Duke of Kent, died on an air force mission. And then in February of 1952, George VI, who had succeeded Edward, died after only 15 years of rule.

Through it all, Queen Mary bore herself in the grand manner, conscious ever of the heritage she symbolized. As if fearing they would somehow detract from her stature, she shrank from using some of the most common of modern inventions, especially the telephone and television.

Contrarily, she bestowed a lingering fame on two quite ancient inventions, the furred, ruffled parasol and a species of upright hat so bedecked with flowers and frills as to defy contemporary streamlining.

How sad that her final wish, to see her granddaughter crowned, was denied her. The young Elizabeth was in a sense the last product of the old queen's will and spirit; from Queen Mary she took instruction in the ways of reigning royalty.

When the crowning comes, Mary will not be there to watch. But in the new queen will be much of her, all the same. Indeed, there is something of her in every Briton, in every free man, who regards well the qualities that marked her passage along the path of history.

Spiritual Diary for Lent
The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. —James 5:16

Today's Message

"Come ye apart with me and pray." These words of our Lord might properly become a universal theme for the season called Lent. For fundamentally Lent is not a time only for self-denial. It is a time for self-reconstruction and self-strengthening.

The pressure of "things" has become so heavy in the lives of most of us that we are apt to forget that there are mental and spiritual forces which are of greater power than things material. The practical person is apt to dismiss intangible things as being largely useless. But it is only when we become confused in mind and divided in our spiritual life—for we have one whether we admit it or no—that life becomes overwhelming and fearsome.

We need, each of us individually, and all of us collectively, to withdraw for a time from the pressure of things and regain our spiritual balance that we may come forth again as masters and not slaves of our world.

"Come ye apart with me and pray."

—HERBERT V. HARRIS
St. Luke's of the Mountains
Episcopal Church, La Crescenta, Calif.

Today's Prayer

O God of Peace, lift us, we pray Thee to Thy presence, where we may be still and know that Thou art God; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Here And There

A visitor in our midst last week, who prefers to be known only as "Experienced", before departing penned the following under date of March 28:

"Warren Paper:—Dear Editor, Having occasion to visit your hospital last night after dinner, also to make several calls during the afternoon, I closed the day asking myself the question, 'What is wrong with Warren?'"

"Two things are dreadfully wrong which adds a great handicap to your otherwise enterprising city: Most of your street intersections have white posts which are to indicate the name of streets, but the names are so dim or in most cases about erased that one must stop and ask the name of the street, as I did yesterday. You certainly need your street signs repainted."

"Going to your hospital the road was so full of chuck holes, sloppy and muddy, one would think he was driving a lane in a hog lot. With such a fine hospital one would expect better approach and a decent place to park. I would like to have you go over the same route and see for yourself—then publish your own findings; then have your car washed after traveling the hospital road leaving it parked where every other car can sprinkle it with mud, while you are inside.

"(Signed) EXPERIENCED"

"Otherwise you would think I was knocking your fine city!"

In answer to complaint number one we might advise "Experienced" that some time ago borough officials, realizing that the upright signs made of cement, could not be maintained in a satisfactory manner, decided not to repair them. As fast as they become in such condition that they do not serve the purpose intended they are to be replaced with the iron standards and cross arms already in place at many intersections. However, it would be an excellent plan to speed the day when all the old-style markers have been relegated to the dump heap.

Concerning complaint number two, being a resident of the thoroughfare, we can say we are thoroughly familiar with the condition of the "road" leading to the hospital, and the situation is a source of considerable criticism, not only on the part of everyone who drives to the institution, but people who reside in the vicinity. A little later the mud will be replaced with dust, which is also very annoying. However, that is not the most serious objection. What is worrying many citizens interested in perpetuating the beauty of our parks and public places is the fact that careless and thoughtless motorists are guilty of inflicting serious damage to the turf in Crescent Park, especially that abutting the street in the vicinity of the hospital. Deep ruts have been cut into the park far past the curb line during the wet weather of the past few weeks, which has kept the earth soft and muddy. In order to avoid future encroachment upon park property by indifferent motorists it has been suggested that the proper officials, as soon as weather and conditions permit, arrange to construct curbing of some nature along both Crescent and Main avenue in the vicinity of the hospital. After the same has been laid, see to it that both park and other borough property are graded and seeded, so that the beauty of the area may be restored and maintained in a manner that was intended when the land was beautified by D. A. R. officials and donated to the community.

Congress Will Refuse to Let All RFC Functions Be Ended

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Liquidation by June 30, 1954, of RFC—the government's huge money-lending Reconstruction Finance Corporation—has now been agreed upon by President Eisenhower and the Republican congressional leaders.

This is being hailed widely as a step in the right direction to get the government out of business. But it will be easier said than done. A number of the present RFC functions will be abolished. They will simply be transferred to other agencies, where they will continue merrily on their way.

The three principal categories here are:

1—The disaster loan program for aid to farmers hit by drought, flood, storm or crop pestilence.

2—The small-business loan program. Aid to small business has become something almost sacred in government—like Home, Mother, and the Flag used to be, or still are.

3—The defense loan program. This one is now in two parts. First is aid to defense plants considered necessary for the production of arms. Second is financial assistance for the construction of civil defense structures like hospitals or bomb shelters.

It has been glibly suggested that this, that or the other of RFC lending programs could easily be transferred to Federal Reserve Bank. But the FRB doesn't want to be bothered by such things. Most of RFC's business loans are made with a 10-year limit. The bulk of these loans have six or seven years to run. But some of the big RFC loans to railroads, banks, insurance companies and local governments have 25 years to run. So it may take at least that long to liquidate RFC completely.

As of Jan. 1, 1953, RFC had over 25,000 loans outstanding with a total face value of over $760 million, divided as follows:

	Number of Loans	Amount in Millions
Business loans	2252	$378
Defense Production Act loans	292	93
Railroads	11	80
Financial institutions	72	47
Local governments	268	22
Disaster loans	3368	17
Insured and guaranteed mortgages	16,031	72
Foreign (Philippine Islands)	1	54

THERE is no provision in the RFC act which would enable it to sell its loan portfolio, except perhaps in the case of the railroad and financial institution loans in which RFC actually holds the stock. To liquidate all the other loans by sale might change control of the borrowing company and so affect its standing.

A number of big RFC loans—like that to the Glenn L. Martin aviation company—have been canceled by refinancing. The controversial B&O Railroad bond issue loan is now down to $65 million and is being retired as rapidly as possible.

That is the trend, in every field of its endeavor. As business continues good, the need for RFC diminishes. If another recession or depression came along, the story might be different.

In its 20-odd years of existence, the RFC that was started under President Herbert Hoover has made over 125,000 loans for a total of nearly $14 billion. In this period it has paid all its costs of operation and left a surplus of $620 million.

If all other government agencies had done as well, there probably wouldn't be any kick.

Chapter 25

IT wasn't until August first that Dan and his uncle once more returned from San Francisco. That gave her the opportunity to see more of Rod and Johnny and Ted Hopkins and Bob. It also gave her time to think. That, she discovered, was something she'd really not done since a certain evening when, twinkling black eyes had met hers on the veranda. And that, she also discovered, was something that had to be remedied. Dan or Bob, life as a doctor's wife or life as a farmer's wife? And did she approve Dan's plans, and did she really oppose Doctor as much as she'd first thought?

In what way could she help? Dan's anger had intensified, not weakened, as the campaign had begun. Not once but many times he'd looked about his new offices and shouted bitterly: "There'd be patients here if the old codger weren't cutting my throat!" With that anger flaming inside him, he'd hoot at the idea of a compromise. Scenting victory, he'd hold firm, demanding nothing less than complete surrender. Facts were facts, figures were figures. It was ridiculous, when you analyzed the matter, to think that one man could build and maintain a hospital that would satisfy the needs of a booming area. There just wasn't that much money in one man's pocket. Dan had to be made to see that, but how? Compromise, that was the logical thing. Let Dan have his small hospital, let the city have its big one. Thus each faction would have what it wanted, while the city as a whole would profit.

WHICH occupation amused Bob O'Brien. He'd been leading her about his farm, showing her the new acreage, showing her the Black Angus bull he'd bought a few months ago. But although she'd looked and listened and marveled and congratulated him, her manner had been abstracted. He chuckled resonantly. "You think too much, darling."

"I'm not your darling."

"And the trouble is that when people think too much they confuse themselves more and more. The trick is to do just enough thinking and no more."

She screwed her face into a little frown. "My head aches," she admitted. "I wish all this fuss were over. I wish I'd made Dad run for mayor."

"I told you last May that you should marry me."

She almost wished she'd done that.

"I don't love you, Bob."

He couldn't be discouraged. "You do. By the way, I've done some thinking. I'm going to oppose your fellow, Doctor's been showing me facts and figures. There's a lot more involved than just building a hospital and buying equipment. The cost of supplies is terrific, the cost of nurses and other doctors is terrific. The only way your fellow could make his investment pay would be to clip, but good."

She nodded. "My views, too, Bob."

"Good girl."

"If the two men weren't so hot-tempered! If they'd just get together and—"

But that was when Dan Curtis came back from San Francisco. He drove up the private road between the towering eucalyptus trees and parked the car next to the garage. He grinned as they came to the door. "How do you like the buggy?"

The buggy was a gleaming Cadillac with white sidewall tires and sparkling chrome trim.

"Not bad," conceded Bob O'Brien. He forced a man-of-the-world laugh. "I suppose you've come to take her away?"

"If you don't mind, old man—"

If Bob didn't have the polish he had the manners. He bowed. "Rare beauty," he intoned, "belongs to all."

She went buoyantly to the new Cadillac and made herself comfortable on the roomy front seat. Big, heavy, the car glided back down the private road to the junction with the highway. But Dan didn't head back to town. He drove to an observation point they'd found one day and parked the car there, rolling the windows down to the fresh salt breeze. "Miss me?"

"I missed you," she said honestly. "Bob did his best to make me forget you, but I didn't."

He lighted a cigarette. "I did some shopping while in San Francisco. Bought a present for Nancy, one for your mother, one for you."

"Dan, how nice!"

"Nice," he admitted.

"You'll be angry with me. Dan. I've been talking with Doctor."

He nodded. "I know."

She grimaced. "Nancy does talk a lot, doesn't she?"

"Your father, as a matter of fact. And what did my opponent have to say about me?"

"Nothing. He'd like you to practice with him. He admires you for the fight you've made."

That came as a pleasant surprise. Dan had spent the morning with Dr. Ambrose J. Fell. The old man had been in a towering rage. "You set the bone wrong! You should have X-rayed it first. If that fisherman hadn't come to me his arm would have been permanently crippled!"

"And admitting me, he proposes what, Ruth?"

"He'd like to compromise, Dan. He'll settle for you, if you'll settle for him."

He dismissed that contemptuously. "That means he knows he'll lose. Only losers offer to compromise."

COMMUNION SERVICE

A service of Holy Communion has been planned at 7:30 p. m. Maundy Thursday in the North Warren Presbyterian church, preparatory to the special Easter service to be held over the coming weekend. These will be announced in further detail in the Friday issue.

You remember Mrs. Smith but you are aware that she may not remember you. Then give her a break when you go up to speak to her. Say: "I don't know whether or not you remember me, Mrs. Smith. I'm Dorothy Jones. We met at the Brown's Christmas party."

That makes things easy for Mrs. Smith. She'll be so grateful that she will really mean it when she says: "How nice to see you again." Always pave the way for your own welcome by putting the other person at ease.

Otherwise, you put him on the spot.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in traditional white and carried a white orchid with satin streamers. Her gown of white nylon tulle and chantly lace over a satin skirt had an illusion neckline and long, tapering sleeves in a fitted basque, which buttoned up the back. A pointed lace peplum softened the skirt, which fell into a chapel length train. Her veil was fingertip length, held by a bonnet of imported bridal illusion, with sweetheart lace and pearl trim, and her double strand of pearls were the bridegroom's gift.

As maid of honor, Myrta Lindmark of Philadelphia, appeared in a gown of her own making, of deep purple shantung accented by a white chantly lace overskirt. Her headdress was in a matching

Even the very best bridge players don't always make the perfect play on every hand. This is true of the average bridge player too, but there is an important difference. The average bridge player may miss the correct play in a particular situation and never realize that he has made a mistake.

When the expert misses the right play, however, he eventually sees his mistake and is therefore prepared to make the right play the next time he meets a similar situation.

When today's hand was played in a match point tournament in Pittsburgh, recently, there was no way to defeat the contract of four spades. The only question was whether or not declarer was going to make an extra trick. (In a match point tournament, the extra 30 points for the overtrick are of great importance.)

West opened the king of clubs,

LIKING MOTHER-IN-LAW IS A GOOD SIGN

SHE probably will be for two reasons that stand out in her letter.

A good daughter-in-law is likely to be a good mother-in-law when it is time for her to change from one role to the other. If, when she was young, she had understanding enough to like and respect her mother-in-law, she certainly should use those same qualities to help her understand a daughter-in-law.

The other reason is hidden in the sentence: "Someday I hope to be a mother-in-law."

The woman who is anticipating with pleasure the time when her son is grown and has a wife and home of his own is on the right track.

It's the mother who hates to think of her son's leaving her, who is sure there is no girl in the world quite good enough for him, who makes a poor mother-in-law.

continued with the ace of clubs, and then led a low club. E. J. Mori, one of Pittsburgh's great bridge players, ruffed with the deuce of spades, and declarer over-ruffed with the five. "I saw too late," said Mori, in telling me about the hand, "that I had missed a very pretty play."

South next led his singleton diamond to dummy's ace and continued with the ten of spades from the dummy. The trump finesse succeeded, and South was able to draw all of the trumps with the ace, queen, and jack. It was then easy for declarer to take the rest of the tricks, making his contract with an overtrick.

Since Mori is a first class bridge player, he was the first to see his mistake. It's an unusual situation, but you can bet your bottom dollar that if the situation ever recurs he will automatically come through with the winning play.

When West leads a third club, East must ruff with the nine of spades! South must use the jack to over-ruff, and this will eventually cost South a trump trick. South must enter dummy with the ace of diamonds to lead a spade for a finesse through East.

South can easily take two trump tricks with the ace and queen (East will surely cover the ten with his king), but then West will win the third round of trumps with his lowly eight.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Allen Nichols

In the Memorial chapel of First Methodist church in San Angelo, Texas, on February 26, Billie Joan, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Wright, of Harriett, Texas, became the bride of Lewis Allen Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Nichols, Starbrick.

The Rev. Boyd Harris, pastor, read the double ring service in a setting of glads, palms and white tapers in candelabra. Wedding music was by Mrs. A. W. McMillen, organist, and Carolyn Booker, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a ballerina gown of brocaded satin damask over taffeta, its drop-shoulder yoke and puffed sleeves of nylon tulle outlined with ruffled nylon tulle sparkled with rhinestones. Similar bead and rhinestone trim accented the ruffles which outlined her damask crown, and mitts were of matching damask and tulle.

Her white satin Bible was topped with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Mrs. Jarvis Wright, Big Lake, Texas, as her cousin's matron of honor wore gold taffeta, with rhinestone trim on her crown of gold taffeta and net. Red rosebuds fashioned her bouquet.

Mr. Wright was best man; ushers were Lt. Edmund McKnight, Los Angeles, Calif., and Lt. Herbert Larson, Detroit, Mich., both stationed at Connally Air Force Base, Waco, Texas.

The bride's mother chose a black suit with pink accessories; Mrs. Nichols, a powder blue suit with navy accessories, each with white carnations.

A reception followed in the Fred Woods Cafe, where the lace-covered bride's table was centered with white and yellow glads. Mrs. Marshall Gern of Pleasant, Mrs. David Akeley of Russell, sisters of the bridegroom, served the three-tier wedding cake, Miss Warmund was at the register, and Mrs. Wood was at the coffee service.

ELIZABETH II—1953... Portrait doll wears coronation robes, jeweled crown and scepter. Tiny crown was made by Frederick Wettstein, in exact replica.

ELIZABETH I—1559... This exquisite portrait doll shows Queen Bess at the time of her coronation, when she was only 25. Elizabeth I was fond of long strings of pearls, drop diamond earrings, and was the first queen to wear a watch on her wrist.

QUEEN VICTORIA—1897... The aging queen is shown in the black gown she wore for her Diamond Jubilee in 1897 when she had reigned for 60 years. She donned her lace-wedding veil, and the rose diamond and silver crown now in the Tower of London.

to audit the books were Evelyn Pittman, Edith Check and Enola Brenton; Mildred Van Orsdale was chosen as delegate to Rebekah Assembly. Also at this meeting, the charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Edith Johnson.

Because of work being done at the lodge hall, plans for supper night this Friday are indefinite and members are asked to call Mildred Nollinger, 3420-M, on Thursday for further information.

Cancer Society Crusade Has Medical Society Endorsement

Dr. A. J. O'Connor, president of the Warren County Medical Society, today endorsed the 1933 American Cancer Society Crusade, which opens here tomorrow.

Dr. O'Connor, said that his endorsement of the drive was a personal one but he felt that it was substantially representative of the whole medical profession.

"Doctors everywhere," he said, "are among the first to realize the terrible pressure that cancer exerts on the lives of all of us. Cancer control can be achieved only by the utmost cooperation of public and medical profession.

"If doctors are to diagnose and cure early cancer, there must be a high incidence of cancer alertness among people in general. The layman must make the first step in cancer control by going to a doctor. After that, the responsibility is ours.

"A periodic physical examination is one way in which patients guard against cancer. The others are to know the danger signals and promptly consult the family physician when one appears.

"The doctor cannot be held responsible when a patient appears with advanced symptoms of cancer that have for many weeks or even months been ignored either through fear or apathy or lack of information.

"One objective of the American Cancer Society campaign is to teach people more about cancer's early symptoms. To this endeavor the medical profession gives its enthusiastic endorsement."

The Cancer drive here, it was previously pointed out, is a joint fund-raising and educational venture to seek continued public support of the triple attack on cancer through research, education and service to cancer patients.

Dr. O'Connor also made an appeal for full support of the fund-raising aspect of the drive. "All of us must give what we can to support this work," he said. "Only one out of four cancer patients is being saved today. Another one could be through early detection and prompt treatment. Lives of the other two, for the present, remain in the hands of the scientists who are seeking means of earlier diagnosis and methods of curing even advanced cancer."

"A maximum effort of service and giving," he concluded, "will be required to reduce cancer from its firmly entrenched position as the second most frequent cause of death."

Colorful Display Of Easter Blooms At Virg-Ann Shop

One of the most spectacular showings of flowers ever to be presented in local windows is being featured at the Virg-Ann Flower Shop, 236 Pennsylvania avenue, west. P. A. DeCambre, owner of the establishment, said that the work had been done entirely by his staff.

In the east window, the decorations are centered about a huge lavender cross constructed of 200 yards of satin ribbon tufts, and centered with calla lilies. In the fore corner of the window is a white model of St. Patrick's cathedral in New York City.

Filling the window, on lavender velvet across the floor are white plants, including Easter lilies, white hydrangeas, white azaleas, and white hollyhocks, dotted with lavender African violet plants.

In the west window, behind a low white picket fence, are massed colorful spring flowers in pots. In the group are tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, and azaleas. Among the massed flowers are rabbits holding small cossages and nose-gays.

In niches on the wall behind the mass display are baskets of spring flowers, and attached to the wall are cossages in various color schemes. Before the fence is a display of small house plants in novelty vases.

Flower fanciers will find much to claim their attention if they will stop a moment while going by the shop.

Inside the store, all was orderly confusion this morning with myriads of Easter customers placing orders for flowers for the religious holiday. Mr. DeCambre and his augmented staff were busy filling the needs of patrons.

Aluminum is not found in a metallic state in nature.

WORK ON SEWER

Borough workmen were busy today sinking a new manhole to better serve the Jackson street sanitary sewer, with the result that Jackson street was closed between Buchanan and Franklin streets. Considerable trouble had been experienced in keeping the sewer open, and the new manhole will aid in the cleaning process. It was hoped the work could be finished late this afternoon.

INJURED IN WRECK

Mrs. Andy Damm of Cleveland, the wife of a former resident of Clarion, was one of the many injured in the New York Central wreck near Conneaut, Ohio, Friday night. Mrs. Damm, now in an Erie hospital, suffered a broken leg, broken arm and internal injuries. She was en route from Cleveland to visit a sister in Erie. Her mother-in-law, Mrs. Gertrude Damm of Clarion, is at the bedside in Erie.

Lawmakers Arranging Test Plan for Cutting Budget budget-cutting plan is a proposal to save $40,000,000 at the state level by requiring school districts, instead of the commonwealth, to pay an automatic $200-a-year salary boost to teachers in the next two years.

Another phase of the program—it would permit the state to keep $5,700,000 in liquor license fees which are now returned to municipalities—was assailed by Walter Greenwood, counsel for the League of Third Class Cities.

The budget-cutting plan was worked out by Republican leaders in an effort to avoid $157,000,000 in new taxes which Fine has said are needed to balance the commonwealth's $1,400,000,000 for the next biennium.

First 15 of an Avalanche of Bills to Senate for Vote

State Constitution, written in 1873, as a separate agency outside the governor's jurisdiction.

Consolidation of the Health, Welfare and Public Assistance Departments, all created in the years since then, has been opposed in various quarters on grounds that it would take a "superman" to administer three such varied fields.

Another bill to transfer the Milk Control Commission to the State Agriculture Department was recommended to the Senate Rules Committee for a public hearing on April 7.

In addition 13 more bills based on Chesterman recommendations were introduced in the Senate yesterday.

Western allies, the Indian plan as finally adopted upheld the U. N. principle that no prisoner would be returned to his homeland by force or retained by force after a Korean truce. In rejecting the plan, the Communists demanded that all prisoners be returned whether or not they wanted to go home.

37TH ANNIVERSARY

R. F. Gilmore, local agent for the Railway Express Agency, is today celebrating his 37th anniversary as an express company employee. When Mr. Gilmore first started as driver of a horse-drawn vehicle in Bradford, three firms had a combined office there, Wells Fargo, American and Adams. Subsequently he served in Clearfield, was agent in Ridgway for 18 months, agent in Corry for six months, and came here Feb. 21, 1923, as local agent. Mr. Gilmore has been on sick leave since Jan. 20, and has undergone surgery since that time, now expecting to return to work about April 15.

Intoxicated Driver Is Responsible For Most Revocations

While the intoxicated driver accounted for less than one percent of all driver's license suspensions in Pennsylvania in 1952, the same driver was responsible for a major share of license revocations.

According to figures issued by the Bureau of Highway Safety of the Department of Revenue, there were 47,491 suspensions and 3711 revocations in the Commonwealth during the past year.

By far the greater number of suspensions came from charges of speeding, which accounted for more than 30,000 of the total. Next largest causes were reckless driving and failure to post security with the Department. Other contributing causes for suspensions included failure to comply with the financial responsibility law, failure to appear for hearing, incompetent drivers, driving without an operator's license, operating without consent of the owner of the vehicle, fatal accidents, permitting a violation, and operating during a suspension period.

For licenses revoked, besides intoxication, which accounted for almost 2500 of the revocations, other causes included failure to stop at the scene of an accident, 521 drivers being cited for this offense; felony and larceny; and operating during a revocation period.

In Warren county, the following suspension figures are cited: reckless driving 25; financial responsibility violations 14; failure to post security 11; failure to appear for hearing 7; intoxication 1; incompetent 1; no operator's license 1; operating without consent 2; fatal accident 1; speeding 44; operating during suspension period 4; impersonation 1; all other causes 15.

For revocations in Warren county, 20 were revoked because of intoxication; four for failure to stop at the scene of an accident; one for felony and larceny; two for operating during a revocation period; and one from other causes.

OLD ONE, MY FRIEND, ALONGSIDE THE GREAT WOT, YOU ARE AN AMATEUR—WATCH!

KNOW YOUR STATE

(Prepared for the Times-Mirror by the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce.)

PENNSYLVANIA'S STEEL MAKING CAPACITY AT NEW HIGH

The annual steel capacity of Pennsylvania as of January 1, 1953 totaled 33,351,560 tons, according to a report of the American Iron and Steel Institute. This is the largest steel producing capacity of any state in the nation and represents an increase of more than 2 million tons during the year, and of 7,101,236 tons since 1939, a far greater increase than that shown in any other state. The steel capacity of our Commonwealth, the State Planning Board of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce points out, is now 28.4% of the national total of 117,547,470 tons.

The gradual dispersal of steel manufacture throughout the nation has, over the years, slightly reduced Pennsylvania's percentage of the national total, but has in no way provided any challenge to the leadership of our state's steel manufactures. Pennsylvania exceeds the second greatest steel producing state, Ohio, by more than 10,700,000 tons, an amount which is approximately as great as the combined capacity of the United Kingdom and Canada.

Whether the U. S. S. R., by its intense concentration on increasing its steel output has succeeded in equaling Pennsylvania's capacity is a fact concealed behind the heavy folds of the Iron Curtain, but the importance of Pennsylvania's steel production to the security of the United States is emphasized by the fact that, up to and through the period of the Second World War, our single state surpassed the output of Russia, Germany or Great Britain.

The recent expansion of steel making capacity put Pennsylvania in a strategic position to make use of every accessible source of iron ore whether from the great Mesabi mines of Minnesota, which still contain vast resources of lower grade ore, or from northern Quebec, Venezuela or Liberia.

WHAT percentage of your income would you voluntarily give to the governments of foreign countries? How long could you afford to continue giving?

Like people all over the world, Americans are merely human beings. There is only one important difference. Americans were FREE.

As a result Americans became the richest people in the world.

So, basically, our past freedom is what has made it possible for us to support the other nations of the world — nations whose governments have restricted the rights of individuals and made progress impossible.

But now Americans are losing their freedom. While once our government was limited and the individual's rights to Life, Liberty and Property were supreme, now our government has unlimited power to take our earnings for whatever purpose its planners decide.

We are giving up our Liberty and our right to earn and hold Property so that our government can support foreign governments which have always deprived their people of Liberty and Property.

If we are to regain our freedom we must insist that our government have this moral purpose:

TO MAKE AND ENFORCE LAWS WHICH PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL'S GOD-GIVEN LIFE, LIBERTY AND RIGHT TO EARN AND OWN PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP — AND THESE LAWS MUST ALSO PROTECT THE PEOPLE FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF.

Bill Reymore, Altho' Blind, Is Meadville's Ardent Court Fan

By KENNETH WILLIAMS
Meadville Tribune Managing Editor

Meadville, Pa. (P)—One of the most disappointed rosters among the 2,100 local fans who "watched" Meadville High School Bulldogs lose to Sharon High in the eastern Regional PIAA basketball finals at Pittsburgh was a fan who never has seen the team. That's because William Reymore, "Bill" to his hundreds of friends in this area—is blind.

Reymore is one of the team's most enthusiastic followers—so much so that he had made plans to accompany the Bulldogs to Philadelphia for the state championship finals. He explained that a disappointment when the team was beaten by Sharon was partly due to the crumbling of these plans for he earlier had told friends:

"This team is going all the way, Philadelphia, and I'll be right with the boys."

Reymore hasn't missed attending a home game of the Bulldogs for two years, and he was right in the front-row seats for each of the three post-season tournament games played by Meadville against Sharpsville and Pittsburgh Vestinghouse at New Wilmington, and against Sharon at the Pitt Field House.

Reymore, accompanied everywhere by his "eyes"—a German police dog named Orman—is an employee of Talon, Inc., here. His blindness occurred following an accident eight years ago.

A special electrical outlet was provided at the Meadville school gymnasium so he could plug in a portable radio at his seat and follow the play as broadcast by the local radio station while participating in the "hollering" of the crowd.

Since it was not possible to tune in on the local station at the tournament games, he was given a seat next to the radio announcer to follow the play in that manner.

The blind man explained that he started listening to the games on the radio three years ago "just for something to do."

"But before long I became so interested that I began attending regularly, and I haven't missed a game since. I get a kick out of being right there with the kids and hollering for the team along with them."

To prove his loyalty to the team, he was the first local fan to pay honor to the players after they clinched their third consecutive Sect. 2 championship by defeating Oil City, Feb. 27. He invited all the players and coaches to be his guests at dinner at a downtown restaurant the following week. At least two post-tournament testimonial banquets in the team's honor now are planned.

What does Reymore think about next year's chances?

"Our team will be back up there," he said. "I think I'll still get my trip to Philadelphia."

Pittsburgh Defeats Hershey in Initial Game of Play-Offs

The Pittsburgh Hornets needed an extra period to edge out the Hershey Bears to take the first round of the playoffs for the Calder Cup and the American Hockey League crown.

The Pittsburgh club, playing at Hershey last night, tacked up their third straight win the best-of-five series to end the Bears' hopes for a crack at the 1953 title.

Less than a minute remained in the extra period when Gordie Henry was withdrawn from the Bear's net. The move was to no avail because on the faceoff Bobby Sollinger scored on the unguarded net.

In the other section of the play-offs the Cleveland Barons hold a 2-1 edge over the Syracuse Warriors in another best-of-five series with the next game scheduled for Wednesday night at Syracuse.

Should Cleveland win, the finals with Pittsburgh will start in Cleveland either Saturday or Sunday. If Syracuse wins the two teams will have to complete their series at Cleveland Saturday.

Grapefruit League Sees Strangers in Leading Positions

By ED CORRIGAN
Sports writer

Detroit first and the New York Yankees in the second division in the American League!

The Pittsburgh Pirates second and the St. Louis Cardinals last in the National League!

Impossible?

Probably during the regular season, but this is Grapefruit League play where the impossible is possible. And that's just how things stand today.

The only team that looks like it might be in its normal place is Brooklyn, which is leading the National League with 15 victories and seven defeats. The Pirates are 4½ games behind, followed by the Chicago Cubs, Milwaukee Braves, Cincinnati Reds, Philadelphia Phillies, New York Giants and the Cardinals.

Following Detroit in the junior loop standings are the St. Louis Browns, Washington Senators, Cleveland Indians, Yankees, Chicago White Sox, Philadelphia A's and Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers, with a 12-5 record for the spring—and with the opening of the regular season less than two weeks away—show a percentage of .706. The Yankees won the pennant last year with a .617. Fred Hutchinson's Bengals, who finished in the cellar last season, are the logical contenders to finish in the same spot this time.

Rod Kerchner Will Pitch for College 9 at Westminster

Rod Kerchner, former Kane and Warren High athlete, will be one of three returning pitchers on Coach "Buzz" Ridd's Westminster baseball squad for the 1953 campaign. The other hurlers back are Lou Cooper and Jack Hamilton.

Last season the Titans only split even with four wins and four losses, two other contests ending in a tie because of rain, but can field practically a veteran team on their opening day against an always-tough Duquesne nine on April 13 in Pittsburgh.

Because of lack of cooperation from the weatherman, Coach Ridd's squad has been limited to indoor drills since practice began early in March, with the exception of two or three days.

Kerchner, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kerchner, of 111 Pioneer street, played with the Warren Merchants in the Sunset circuit after school last year, and will be playing a key role in the Titans' 14-game card coming up. He is one of Westminster's most popular students and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Warren Man Is Speaker At Producers' Meeting

Titusville Herald: If John Wilkes Booth had guessed right on a well at Pithole, history might have been written differently. E. C. Miller of Warren told Middle District oil producers last night at Oil City.

Before he assassinated President Lincoln, Booth sank $6,000 in investments in Pennsylvania oil fields, the speaker said.

Booth was in Franklin from April, 1864, to October of that year, living at the home of Mrs. Sarah Webber at 13th and Buffalo streets.

He paid $1,000 for a one-third interest in property at Pithole but sold out before the well came in, Mr. Miller said. The well was the Homestead on the Hyner farm, one of the best producers in that field.

The speaker showed slides to illustrate his theme of "I Met a Murderer."

President C. F. Kindred of Titusville presided at the meeting at the Club House. He announced the next meeting will be at the Pleasantville Presbyterian Church on May 11.

Hickory Street Bridge Will Have Splash Board

The Pennsylvania Department of Highways has a force of men employed in the preliminary work incident to the placing of a band of steel along the driveway side of the east walk of the Hickory street bridge to serve as a splash board. This will be good news to south siders and other pedestrians who have complained for years over the manner in which automobiles splash walkers on the bridge in wet and slushy weather.

Holes are being drilled in the cement into which will be anchored pipes upon which the splash band will be attached. It is expected that a welder from the Franklin office will be in Warren within the next week or ten days to complete the work after the preliminary details are completed.

Naval Reserve Surface Division Faces Inspection

Members of the U. S. Naval Reserve Surface Division, 3-68, will stand their monthly captain's inspection at the Jamestown, N. Y., training center tonight. Lt. Cmdr. Sidney W. Blackman is the commanding officer of the division who will lead the inspection party, and he will be accompanied by his executive officer, Lt. W. Scott Calderwood.

On Tuesday evening, May 5, the division will compete for honors in the annual inspection of the Third Naval District. In the 1951 (fiscal year 1950) inspection, the Jamestown unit placed first and entered national competition, and last year ranked third with an even higher mark.
